

Typing Practice Activities

When working on the following activities remember to determine the physical and emotional support the person needs to be successful. You may want to note the type of support you give for each activity you do, this way you can keep track of how you are progressing.

Activity Ideas

Create a Comic strip

Have the person you are supporting choose characters, settings, props, and write dialog. You can work on this using predictable choices, if the person you are supporting is having a difficult time coming up with ideas say, “You can choose to write about a dog or a person.” If they are having trouble coming up with a topic say, “would you like to write about a dog flying a plane or driving a car?”

- <http://www.makebeliefscomix.com/Comix/>
- <http://www.readwritethink.org/materials/comic/index.html>
- <http://donnayoung.org/art/comics.htm>

Write an Acrostic Poem

Have the person you are supporting list their name or another word of interest vertically on a piece of paper. Ask them to write a word that describes them or the word they have chosen that begins with each letter. If you are working at the predictable level give word choices.

- Daring
- Always friendly
- Loving
- Energetic

Picture Activity

Have the person you are working with find a picture they might be interested in. Type words or sentences that relate to the picture.

Create a WORDLE

Go to www.wordle.net and click on create. Have the person you are working with write a list of words on a topic of their choice. Next click go. You can then support the person you are working with to choose the font, layout, and color. Print and display your word art.